PWOC Evening Bible Studies

The purpose of a PWOC Evening Bible study is to accommodate Protestant women in the chapel community who are unable to attend daytime PWOC Bible studies.

First, work with the PWOC President to assess if there is a need for an evening Bible study, perhaps by conducting a survey at the Protestant chapel services.

Assuming that there is a need, you will then determine which day, what time, how often and where the evening study will meet. If the study will meet at a chapel facility, be sure that the selected day/time does not conflict with other chapel activities.

You will need to decide how long the Bible study will meet. Be mindful that the ladies have worked all day and may only be able to meet for 2 hours or less. After deciding your time frame and frequency of meetings, go through the Bible Study Selection process (document BSS-1).

Select a Bible study teacher, using the Teacher Selection process (document TS-1). Be mindful that the students may better identify with the teacher if she also works outside of the home.

Praise & Worship can be offered as a means of transition from the pressures of the day. However, it may need to be fairly brief in the interest of time.

If the local PWOC offers morning Bible studies, the 1st VP-Spiritual Life will also be responsible for any evening studies. However, she can delegate some of the Evening Bible study duties to a liaison. This woman should then be invited to attend PWOC board meetings. As the liaison, she will share announcements with the Evening Bible study and will submit any funding requests to the Financial Liaison via the 1st VP-Spiritual Life.
